Pupils Killed In Terror Raid

11 Hitler Aircraft Lost In Attack Over London

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Thirty German Focke-Wulf dive-bombers staged a terror raid on the south coast of England and the London area today, ravaged a schoolhouse in the suburbs to kill and maim scores of children in broad daylight, and fled back to Europe in disorder, leaving at least 11 of their number behind, victims of British fighter planes and anti-aircraft fire.

The bombed-out and burned-out schoolhouse, where many of the youngsters were caught as they emerged for the luncheon recess, was not in the heart of crowded London where the attack could have been accidental.

It was, on the other hand, some distance in the suburbs, clearly evident for what it was—nothing more than an easy target for indiscriminating bombing and machine-gunning.

There were many casualties in

Axis Forces Gain In Tunisia as Rommel Flees

BULLETIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— Radio Morocco said today there were indications that the Axis already had started an attempt to remove troops from Tripoli by sea.

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—Axis forces advancing southwest of Pont Du Fahs on the Tunisian front have scored a penetration of about seven miles, an Allied headquarters communique said today.

The communique also reported "minor engagements continue in the Bou Arada-Goubellat area" farther north.

The Pont Du Fahs area, about 40 miles southwest of Tunis, has been held largely by French forces.

The Allied command also reported that Flying Fortresses yesterday attacked the coastal area of Sousse, where "hits were made on industrial buildings and railway yards."

Besides the heavy bombers, United States medium bombers and fighters ranged over most of the Tunisian front, from the capital area in the north to points near the Tunisian-Libyan border in the south.

The communique reported one enemy bomber destroyed Monday and concluded, "from all these operations two of our aircraft are missing."

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreating Axis army was reported streaming headlong into a three-way Allied squeeze in Tunisia today while on the political front confused North Africans watched for the first move of the new Algerian governor general, Marcel Peyrouton, long-time foe of Pierre Laval.

Peyrouton was named yesterday to replace Yves Chatel in what observers here regarded as a move to install a firm and expert ad-

Flynn Asserts He Didn't Know About Gangster Deputy

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Edward J. Flynn, minister designate to Australia, told the senate foreign relations committee today that when he swore in the late Arthur Flegenheimer as a special deputy sheriff of Bronx county he did not know that was the real name of Dutch Schultz, the gangster.

Earlier an assistant secretary of state testified that Flynn's experience as federal commissioner for the New York world's fair helped equip him to discharge the duties of minister.

Flynn, testifying at his own request, offered denials to all specific charges raised against him by Senator Bridges (R., N. H.), in opposting senate confirmation of the diplomatic appointment.

PLAN ROUND-UP

FBI To Go After 11,000 Draft Delinquents in Ohio, Feb. 1.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Federal Bureau of Investigation agents will begin, Feb. 1, the rounding up of Ohio's 11,000 delinquent selective service registrants, Lt. Col. Carl G. Wahl, chief of the manpower division of state selective service headquarters, announced today.

Colonel Wahl said that the delinquent registrants would have from now until the first of the month to get their records straight without penalty.

Wahl said there are a number of Ohio men of military age who have failed to register, have not informed their local boards of address changes or other changes in their draft status.

GETS U. S. DIVE BOMBERS

We're Going to Live a More Simple Life, OPA Chief Says

"We might as well resolve now to live a more simple life," Burkitt L. Williams, regional director of the Office of Price Administration, said yesterday at a joint luncheon meeting of five Mansfield civic clubs at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Giving a hurried description of the point system of rationing which will supplement the coupon system soon, Williams made a plea for co-operation of the consumer and retailer, saying:

"We have spent a year getting organized and, trying to persuade everyone to co-operate. The persuasion will continue but where it fails OPA should force compliance. We are embarking on a stage in this plan to control prices and ration scarce goods where those who defy the best interest of the country and the needs of the armed forces should be prosecuted in the courts on criminal charges. There is too much at stake to depend entirely on voluntary co-operation."

Williams, who is president of the Cleveland Rotary club and was the guest of Mansfield Rotarians at the invitational session, is in charge of OPA operations in five states, including Ohio. His headquarters are in Cleve-

Monthly Salary Increase of $10 Granted School Employes

Salary increases of $10 a month for all employes of the Mansfield school except the superintendent were granted last night by the board of education. Increases will range from $90 a year for teachers and principals to $120 a year for custodians and other employes who work on a full year basis.

The pay raises, effective immediately, will total $26,196 annually. They were provided for in the 1943 school appropriation which was approved Jan. 9 by the board.

The board's action last night brought total salary increases since last September to slightly more than 11 per cent for most teachers and other employes. A flat $90-a-year raise was granted last summer and became effective with the beginning of the school term in September.

The Mansfield Teachers' association passed a resolution Jan. 11 asking for a 15 per cent salary boost, but the board of education had not received a copy of the resolution when the increases were authorized last night.

Paul Hauserman, president of the association, said a copy of the resolution had not been mailed because association officers knew custodians and engineers had applied for a raise first and teachers thought the board would act on the custodians' request before taking up the teacher salary question.

H. W. Arlin, president of the board, pointed out that the raises granted last night are for the 1943 school year only. Whether or not the present pay rate will be continued at the end of 1943 will depend upon the financial condition

KRUPA ARRESTED

Charged With Permitting Boy To Transport Marihuana.

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — Gene Krupa, the drum-beating band leader and idol of jitterbugs and zoot suiters, today was released from custody under $1,000 bail after his arrest on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Krupa protested he was innocent of the charge—that of permitting his 17-year-old valet to transport narcotics.

Deputy District Attorney Ed Leonard declared the valet, John Pateakos, was being held as a material witness in the juvenile detention home. Leonard said the youth was arrested by federal agents while in the possession of marihuana cigarets. The 17-year-old youth told arresting officers that Krupa had sent him to the latter's hotel room to get the narctic cigarets, the district attorney said.

STRUMPET? WHY, IT'S A MUFFIN

That's What Flynn Accuser Tells Attorneys at Attack Trial.

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
(UP Hollywood Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD—Peggy Satterlee, the 16-year-old who believes that a strumpet is a British cookie and that a moon looks best when framed by a porthole, came to court today to tell under cross-examination every detail of her alleged intimacies with Errol Flynn.

Miss Satterlee, one of two teen-age girls charging Flynn with statutory rape, found herself tangling verbally with Jerry Giesler, chief of defense counsel, and, for the most part, holding her own. Dark haired and pert in a light blue suit, she told about her trip to Catalina island aboard Flynn's yacht, Sirocco.

She told about being given a glass of milk, with rum in it, of kissing Flynn goodnight, and discovering him bursting into her cabin. He undressed her and attacked her, she said, and gave her another glass of milk. The next night, she continued, she was standing on deck admiring the moon while the Sirocco scudded back to the mainland.

Blood Donors, Keep Your Word: Report Tomorrow and Friday

Richland county will meet its obligation to contribute 300 pints of blood to the Red Cross blood donor unit tomorrow and Friday if persons registered to contribute those two days keep their word.

Making effort to prevent a repetition of failures to meet quotas in November and December, the Red Cross blood donor committee today said it had obtained sufficient registrations to meet the quota. Success of meeting the quota Thursday and Friday now depends on the individual.

More than three times the amount of blood given last year must be donated in 1943 to meet the quota of 4,000,000 pints required of the Red Cross on a nation-wide scale by the military. This means that not only will Richland county's quota be gradually stepped up but it also means that volunteers must be punctual about keeping appointments, the committee said.

The Donation Center will be located as usual in Bethany House of the First Presbyterian church. Donation hours Thursday are scheduled between 2:45 and 6:45 p. m. and for Friday between 10:45 a. m. and 3:45 p. m.

Donors are urged to eat no solid food for four hours prior to their donation as fats, solids, cream, sugar or other rich foods have an immediate effect upon the blood and makes it difficult or impossible to process into plasma.

$59,000 to Be County Quota For Red Cross

National Headquarters Sets Goal for Drive Starting March 1.

Mansfield and Richland county will be asked to contribute $59,000 to the Red Cross War Fund Roll Call when the wartime campaign is launched by Richland county chapter of the Red Cross March 1.

The county quota, received today from national headquarters, was announced by L. W. Birch, Roll Call chairman. He added that an organization of workers for the campaign would be set up in the near future and plans formulated for the undertaking.

The Red Cross and the Community War Chest are the only general fund raising drives to be staged in the county. With the exception of the Red Cross, all other war relief or welfare agency drives are included in the Community War Chest.

Combining the annual county-wide Roll Call with a special fund for war work the campaign will be the only one launched in the county by the organization this year unless a disaster or other great emergency arises, Birch said. The chapter deferred its 1942 Roll Call until this spring to conform with the national Red Cross plan combining Roll Call and War Fund into one major drive.

Two and a-half times as large as the figure raised at the time the last Roll Call in November, 1941, the county quota is less than the amount raised by both the 1941 Roll Call and the war fund that directly followed Pearl Harbor. Approximately $22,000 was derived at that time from Roll Call and $45,000 from the war fund campaign.

Birch said that approximately $18,000 of the amount raised in the county would go to the chapter for operational expenses providing the budget set up by the chapter was approved by national. This fund will cover general maintenance and finance the expanding services of the chapter due to the war, among which is the home service department whose work has increased 450 per cent during the last year.

ASKS PAY HIKE

Catlett Measure Would Boost Wages of O. S. R. Guards.

Co-sponsored by Representative John L. Catlett, Richland county, the Ohio house had before it today a bill proposing to increase the pay of guards at the reformatory here and at London Prison farm, to put them on the same salary basis as guards at Ohio penitentiary in Columbus.

Guards at the reformatory and at London are now paid, depending on their grade, from $130 to $150 a monah. The bill would increase the pay for the various grades to $150 to $170 per month.

Other sponsors of the bill are Representatives R. K. Shaw of Madison county, where London farm is located, and N. D. Backus, Lorain county.

UMW Warns Men They Face Expulsion From Union For Failure to Obey.

VOTE TO STAY OUT

Workers Resentful Because U. S. Refuses to Act on Wage, Dues Complaint.

(By Associated Press)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. — Unions representing thousands of striking miners voted to ignore President Roosevelt's back-to-work command today and among workers throughout the anthracite fields there was growing resentment over the government's unwillingness to negotiate their grievances immediately.

Angry mutterings of "Let the troops come!" were heard at meetings at which strike ballots were taken.

The United Mine Workers Union meanwhile told the striking miners that they face "dishonorable expulsion forthwith" if they refuse to obey President Roosevelt's order to return to work by noon tomorrow.

The UMW executive committee of District 1, to which the unauthorized work stoppage now is confined, issued the warning as thousands of miners, increasingly resentful of what they regard as the government's unwillingness to negotiate their grievances immediately, voted to stay out.

M. J. Kosik, District 1 president, declared that "the majority of mine workers should not suffer because of the action of a small minority."

But Karl Kratz, president of one revolting United Mine Workers' local, bluntly declared:

"I don't see why the government doesn't give the men the assurance that it will look into their grievances without the threat of force."

President Roosevelt served notice yesterday that the strikers must go back within 48 hours and said if the order was not obeyed the government would "take the necessary steps to protect the se-

Shelby Council Waits Report on Water Situation

SHELBY — Mayor W. R. Morris and members of council today were anxiously awaiting receipt of a water survey report from the H. P. Jones Engineering company, Toledo, scheduled for consideration at an adjourned session of council tonight.

"The engineers promised to have it here but it doesn't arrive another postponement of the council will be necessary," Mayor Morris said.

The report will recommend construction of a dam in the Blackfork river to impound 1,800,000 gallons of water as an auxiliary supply source to city wells, and possible construction of a surface-based reservoir.

In carrying out these projects, the engineering form said a few days ago, Shelby commercial, industrial and domestic consumers will be assured of ample water supply and extension of service to the Army Air Force Supply depot will not in any way imperil the town's supply.

Shelby industrialists last Monday dropped their protest against location of the depot a few miles north of Shelby, their objections being that such a project would create a "water hazard" for Shelby.

Aside from hard going on three fronts in New Guinea, Guadalcanal in the Solomons, and in Burma Japan was reported now facing a serious shortage of ships to supply her armies spread out across more than 5,000 miles of the Pacific ocean.

Official tabulations showed American and Allied submarines, warships and planes hacking away at Japan's vital supply lines have destroyed at least 445 Japanese naval and merchant ships, among which were six aircraft carriers, 38 cruisers and 60 destroyers.

On the New Guinea front, dispatches said Allied troops inflicted such heavy casualties that only 27 Japanese prisoners were taken in the capture of Sananonda point and Sananonda village, wiping out the enemy's last major garrison on the Papuan peninsula.

Four isolated Japanese groups, tightly pocketed by American and Australian troops, still held out in the coastal jungles.

Gen Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that while the mopping up of enemy land forces continued, Allied bombers renewed the assault on Japanese bases at Lae, New Guinea, on Timor island, on the Kaie islands, and at Gasmata, New Britain.

In Burma theater, RAF bombers hit the Japanese in new "softening up" raids, attacking Rathedaung and the enemy-occupied village of Padah on Akyab island.

British headquarters said Field Marshal Sir Archibald P Wavell's forces driving back into Burma from India were meeting continued Japanese resistance above Akyab.

RAF night fighters were also credited with shooting down two Japanese bombers when the enemy raided Calcutta, India.

Japs Face Serious Shipping Shortage

NEW YORK —(AP)— Slashing steadily away at Japan's vital and long-extended supply lines, Allied submarines, warships and planes have destroyed at least 445 Japanese naval and merchant ships, and reports from Axis sources indicate the Nipponese are facing a serious shipping shortage.

With their conquests sprawled over more than 5,000 miles of the Pacific ocean, and their ship production unequal to match the pace of their sinkings, the Japanese apparently are turning desperately to ersatz means of sea transport to alleviate their position.

Recent reports from Axis propagandists said the Japanese were striving to overcome transport shortages with construction of large numbers of Chinese-type junks and tremendous rafts.

through a porthole," she quoted Flynn as saying. "Come on down and see."

She went, she said, got one glimpse of the moon and found herself being pushed back onto a bunk. Flynn, she said, attacked her again.

Under cross examination she went into her early life as a hitchhiker with her mother and her sister, Mickey June, and into her relations with Capt. Cathcart Jones of the Royal Canadian Air force and onetime technical director at Warner Brothers' movie studios.

Miss Satterlee testified that the captain was 43, that she'd made several week-end trips with him, that he paid the rent of her apartment, and that he'd asked her to marry him.

"Did he," asked Giesler, "have any pet names for you?"

"It sounds kind of silly," Miss Satterlee said, "but he called me his strumpet."

"I think," interrupted Prosecutor Thomas Cochran, "that she meant crumpet."

"It isn't what she meant," retorted Giesler, "it's what she said and she said strumpet."

"That's right," cried Miss Satterlee. "I did say strumpet. It is a kind of English muffin."

Giesler also went into the pet names Flynn reserved for Miss Satterlee. These included "J. B." and "S. Q. Q." Miss Satterlee said they meant respectively, "Jail bait," and "San Quentin Quail."

"You knew what these abbreviations meant?" Giesler asked.

"Oh, yes," she said.

"Did Mr Flynn tell you?"

"Oh, no."

"You figured them out for yourself?"

"That's right," Miss Satterlee said. "I knew they meant that if a man had relations with an under-age girl, he went to jail But I wasn't thinking about jail when I was on the yacht. It was all kind of a joke.

Giesler also wanted to know about her call with Flynn at the office of a physician known as "Hypo Ned" for some vitamin shots Flynn took two shots in the arm, Miss Satterlee testified.

"But you didn't take any?" Giesler asked

"Oh no," Miss Satterlee replied "I was too scared."

"You mean you thought you were about to get on the yacht and here they were, trying to dope you?"

"I might have thought that, but only for a little while," she said. "I have many funny thoughts that go away real quick"

"Uh, huh," observed Giesler, "and some remain."

Miss Satterlee's testimony was expected to consume most of today's session. Her parents then will give their evidence, as will Peter Stackpole, photographer for Life and Time magazines, who was aboard the yacht to make pictures of Flynn spearing fish

RELAX RULES

Draft Boards Get New Power To Defer Farm Workers.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Local draft boards acquired additional authority today to permit deferment of agricultural workers deemed essential to food production.

Liberalization of the deferment rules followed congressional criticism that many farms were being crippled by induction of their workers.

While production of 16 war units of essential products was the standard in the past for deferring an agricultural worker, a new guide for local boards provides that individual production may be as little as eight units.

The unit is a measure of production of essential farm products with one milk cow, one acre of beets and one acre of carrots, for example, each representing a unit land.. He was further characterized by Robert K Porter, program chairman who introduced him, as a successful automobile dealer, an attorney, and a major of World war I. Rotary President Harry B Soulen presided at the meeting.

Other clubs, besides Rotary, represented were Kiwanis, Lions, Cooperative and Optimist.

"It seems paradoxical," Williams said," that an agency established to protect the purchasing power of the average citizen should require a detailed defense, but such is the case of OPA

"We are fully aware of the existent hostility toward its effort to control prices and equitably distribute scarce goods but this ill feeling should be a challenge," he continued

Stressing that there is an "alarming amount of selfish and unpatriotic chiseling bootlegging and black market transactions going on among honest people" Williams appealed to his listeners to co-operate in the interests of rationing and price control with a view to getting a maximum flow of weapons and supplies to our armed forces

"OPA has done only a fair job on both price control and rationing," he opined qualifying his remarks with statistics concerning the 70 cents per capita cost of the OPA service in relation to the advanced prices of food, clothing and shelter in World war I.

Moving to the rationing functions of the OPA, Williams stressed that the agency which he represents does not decide when or what is to be rationed but that it merely carries out the rationing job while the OPA makes the decisions of what, when and how.

In this connection he cited statistics to show the magnitude of the rationing undertaking "The total number of ration stamps printed for War Ration Book 2 which is due to make its appearance next month, is equal to the total number of postage stamps printed in the United States in the past 12 years," he emphasized, stating further that the printing was just the first phase of the total job

Williams expressed his thanks to volunteer workers, mentioning school teachers in particular.

Describing the remainder of his address as "a quick glance into the future," Williams predicted that many more items will be rationed this year, with the job made easier by the number of brands of each kind of commodity reduced in the interest of standardization.

All School Employes Except Superintendent Receive Salary Increases.

of the schools, he said. The salary increases authorized last summer were made permanent, bringing an upward revision of the salary schedule

In addition to the $10 monthly increases granted school custodians and engineers, they will receive two weeks vacation after the first year of service and a 40-hour week during the three summer months when there is no school.

Custodians who work extra time at night when there is a program at a school not affiliated with school activities will receive an additional $3 for the night's work, under the new agreement. The extra pay was authorized by the board in cases where organizations sponsor meetings for profit.

The board had been negotiating for two months regarding custodians' salaries and working schedules with R. J. Jamieson, Cleveland, representing the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers.

After hearing the board's proposal last night, Jamieson said, "I think you've done pretty by us" After meeting with the board he took the news of the pay increases and reduced working hours to the custodians and engineers who also were convened. He had sought a 49-hour weekly schedule 38 weeks and a 40-hour schedule for the remaining 14 weeks of the year.

Asked today if the $10 raise was satisfactory to the teachers' association, Hauserman said, "It's a long way from the 15 per cent increase we wanted. It actually amounts to only five or five and a half per cent" There were no teacher representatives at last night's board session.

The schools finished 1942 with an operating balance of $191.72 which last night was added to the 1943 appropriation giving the board $642,875 for 1943 expenses

The schools anticipate additional funds from county tax collections this year to help meet the pay increases and rising cost of maintenance, Arlin, board president, explained.

Pre-Arrangement of Funerals Is Sensible

A few years ago the idea of arranging for a funeral before the time it was required would have been considered fantastic. Today it is a common and sensible practice.

A pre-arranged funeral means one that is in accord with normal desires. It is arrived at by considered judgment—not during the stress of grief.

We invite pre-arrangement. It assures that both the service and the cost will be in accordance with your wishes—and relieves you of a burden when the need does arise.

ministration and at the same time rid Algeria of Laval sympathizers.

Cairo dispatches said air reconnaissance had shown Rommel's forces flowing westward on the final lap of his retreat from El Alamein to Tunisia and the Cairo radio put the British Eighth army only 30 miles from Tripoli, the only remaining bastion of Mussolini's African empire.

Thus Rommel was being hounded relentlessly from the east by the Eighth army, hemmed in from the south by French forces moving north across the Sahara and central Libya and faced in Tunisia by a combined American-British-French Allied army

The Tunisian front, long bound up in yellow mud, stirred uneasily as Rommel's forces approached Axis tanks and infantry initiated attacks in the area southwest of Tunis and made a slight penetration of French lines at one point, an Allied communique reported

Allied air forces continued to pound the Axis footholds in Tunisia and Flying Fortresses visited the Tripoli area for a destructive attack on the Castel Benito airfield south of the city The road along which Rommel must travel up the coast of Tunisia also was raked with explosives

A French spokesman reported the Italians had been driven out of the Sahara desert, except at Gadames, an Italian fort in Tripolitania across the Tunisian border from Fort Saint Anchor.

(The Fighting French in London were immediately critical of Peyrouton's appointment and a spokesman said "it is imposible to estimate how many thousand French partiots were sent to prison and tortured by Peyrouton during his tenure of office as chief of Vichy police and minister of the interior" He was described by the Fighting French as a former Fascist sympathizer.)

Reds Surge Within 79 Miles of Kharkov

MOSCOW (UP) - Surging Russian armies pushed to within 79 miles of Kharkov today in their drive to regain the Ukraine and shaped thrusts toward Rostov from new positions astride railways leading into that city.

(The capture of numerous towns on five fronts was reported in the Soviet noon communique which was broadcast from Moscow and recorded in London by the Soviet Monitor.

(A large number of Italian officers and men were taken prisoner in another sector of the battlegrounds leading to Kharkov, the communique said.)

The advance on Kharkov, stemming from the Voronezh sector, had pushed 50 miles through Valuiki, junction point of three railroads east of Kharkov, and into Urazovo. The red army here stood directly east of the ancient Ukrainian capital often called the "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine" because of its industrial importance.

The occupation of Valuiki enabled the Russians to cut for the first time the rail line which runs north to Kastornoye, between Voronezh and Kursk, puaralleling the main Moscow-Rostov line The penetration to Urazovo put the Soviet army within 30 miles of Kupiansk, one of the first cities taken by the Germans in their offensive on the Kharkov front last summer.

A special communique claimed the capture of Kamensk after hard street fighting Thus at once consolidated the red army's bridge head on the south bank of the Donets river and put a main body at a point 85 miles north of Rostov on the main Moscow-Rostov railway Some advance guards are 10 miles nearer Rostov

The Russians, the newspaper said, have "more soldiers, more guns and more tanks than a year ago."

Under the heading "The Tragedy of Stalingrad," the Basler Nachrichten said the show in that sector might have a few more scenes but it was the last act and "the tragic outcome for the Germans could no longer be doubted"

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Just about a year ago this time, little Bobby Baker, who is sometimes known as "Peanuts," was in the midst of a bucket scoring race with Bob Winbigler who was well on his way toward a new all-time record at Mansfield high school.

Winbigler, you shouldn't have any difficulty recalling, was the star of the Mansfield Tygers, while "Peanuts" was merely the star of the reserve team, and the points he tallied had no standing in any official record compilation.

But Baker was keeping pace with Winbigler until Windy took a mid-season spurt.

Now the diminutive Baker is the star of the Tygers, and he is out in front all by himself in the scoring department.

This week should see him go well past the 100-point mark as the Tygers invade Norwalk Friday night, and return home to meet Youngstown Chaney Saturday night.

He needs only four points now to reach the century mark.

Baker's 96 points are well ahead of Andy Lamoreux's 73 in second place and Dean Hahn's 56.

There must be a wee bit drap o' Scotch in wee Bobby Baker. He seldom passes up a free shot on the house, and it's his ability to toss off these free shots that has given him the scoring lead.

Lamoreux has outscored him from the floor with 30 buckets to Baker's 29, but "Peanuts" has put away 38 free shots to only 13 for Andy. But then you would have to go a long way to discover any Scotch in a name like Lamoreux.

Hahn has marked up 24 buckets and only eight free shots.

Only veteran returning from last year's fine team, Hahn had a tough time getting started this season, and his point total was so low for the first three games that Coach Vern Hoffman, frankly discouraged, was considering replacing him with someone who would be available next season.

Hahn was left out of the starting lineup a few times, then went like a house afire when he did get in the game. That system seemed to be the answer.

"He even came to me and asked that he be left on the bench at the start of the game until he saw what was going on on the floor," says Hoffman. "And he's one of the hardest workers in practice that I've got. What are you going to do with a guy like that? I'm sticking with him."

And right after telling me that tale, Hoffman started Hahn against New Philadelphia, instead of keeping him on the bench for a while. Pardon me if I seem somewhat confused.

Golf Tourneys Planned for '43

CHICAGO—(INS)—Except for four one-day handicap events, Chicago this year will enjoy its usual program of golf, it was announced today by the Chicago District Golf association.

The decision was reached at a meeting of the association's board of directors who met to consider if there should be any curtailment because of the war. Eight tournaments, several national in scope, will be held during the year.

The Hale America open tournament, which was highly successful last year, probably will be held the latter part of June, although the site was not selected. The net proceeds, as last year, will go 100 per cent for war benefits.

The Hale America is designed as a successor for the national open for the duration of the war. Its sponsors believe it may raise $100,000 for war relief purposes this year.

St. John Retains Loop Lead

Crush Grace Gospel 57-8 In Church Game.

By WALLY DAVIS

ST. JOHN'S cagers crushed Grace Gospel, 57 to 8, last night to retain their lead in the Y. M. C. A. Church league basketball race.

In other loop tilts St. Matthews defeated Episcopal, Central Methodist edged St. Luke's, and First Lutheran swamped Congregational.

Scoring almost at will, St. John's ripped through the Gospel outfit with one of the best displays of shooting this season. They got away to a fast start, piling up a 15-2 advantage in the opening quarter, and then came back with 11 more in the next frame to lead 26 to 4 at the half.

The winners held their opponents scoreless in the third period while chalking up 10 tallies to hold an overwhelming 36-4 margin entering the final stanza.

A 21-point spree in the last quarter rounded out the rout.

Bob Nikolaus and Flick Flockenzier paced St. John's, getting 14 and 13 points, respectively. G. Donnan scored six of his team's eight points.

St. Matthew's took over sixth place in the championship chase when they beat Episcopal in the opener, 30 to 23.

A third quarter rally put the game on ice for the victors after they had held a slim three-point margin at the half.

St. Matthew's held a 9-7 lead at the end of the first quarter, 15-12 at the half, and 28-17 as the third period ended.

Leinard dropped in 12 markers to pace the winners, while Ropp had a like number for the Episcopalians.

The Central Methodist-St. Luke game was the thriller of the evening.

St. Luke's staged a rally late in the last quarter, tying the score at 25-all, but a bucket by Baer in the final minute swung the contest to the Methodists. Final score, 27 to 25.

First Lutheran, sparked by Martin Bayer who scored 22 points, walked over Congregational, 49 to 27.

Bayer scored 30 points for the Lutherans last week, and his 22 tallies in this contest gives him an average of 26 points.

The Lutherans took an 11-9 lead in the first quarter, led 19-14 at the half, and were in front 31-18 entering the final.

Hale and Bancroft led the Congregational team with nine points each.

Trapper Heads Trapshoot Team

VANDALIA—(AP)—Julius Petty of England, Ark., the No. 1 star of the 1942 Grand American trapshoot was selected captain today of the All-America trapshooting team.

The selections were made by Jimmy Robinson, Minneapolis, former statistician of the Amateur Trapshooting association, shooting editor of Sports Afield magazine.

Petty, a trapper, fur buyer and crack field shot, won the all-around championship at the "Roaring Grand" by breaking 910 of 950 handicap, doubles and 16-yard targets. He broke 100 straight to tie for the "Champion of Champions" title in the race between state champions, and broke 200 straight from 16 yards to win the class AA crown from the nation's top-flight marksmen.

Others named on Robinson's all-America were:

Five Sullivan Brothers Lost With Ship

We have never written anything about the Sullivan brothers as athletic stars. They weren't sports heroes, so we had no occasion to use their picture on this page. They were all-Americans, though, on Uncle Sam's team. They're gone now, all five brothers, lost with their ship in action in the Pacific. Let's not forget their contribution to winning Uncle Sam's biggest fight. In the photo above, taken with Jack Dempsey, center, on a happier occasion, the Sullivan brothers are, left to right, Albert, Madison, Francis, Joseph and, in the foreground, George.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The other day Morris Siegel, who was a sports writer before he became a sailor, wrote a column for the Norfolk "Seabag," naval training station paper. . . . It was headed, "We want baseball," and since Siegel ought to know what his shipmates think, we'll give you a few samples of what he has to say. . . . "We feel that professional baseball is as legitimate as any other business and is more necessary than a lot which are operating today under the guise of being 'essential to the war effort.' . . . Baseball is part of America, part of what we're fighting for today. . . . How would we regard a big, strapping outfielder at a ball park when some of us thought he should be in a defense plant? Well, if he struck out, we wouldn't think so much of him, but if he hit a home run he'd be 'good people' in our book. . . . We don't recommend the deferment of men to play baseball. Simply give the fellows who are trying to provide for a little wholesome recreation a bit of encouragement."

NO PARKING.

A busload of Detroiters had a surprise the other day all because bowler Andy Varipapa, who has been conducting a pin-spilling school there, happened to be walking along Woodward avenue. . . . As the bus drew up to Varipapa, the driver brought it to a sudden halt, in the middle of the block and opened the door. . . . "Hi, Andy," he shouted. "I've got my average up 12 pins since you changed me from three to four steps."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE.

Producers of the show, "This Is the Army" are after Sgt. Joe Louis to appear in the movie version. . . . And Dick Richardson, the Georgia sub who had that date with actress Betty Grable, may be offered a picture contract as a result of that gag. . . . Baseballers Peewee Reese, Dixie Walker and Max Macon are working together in a Louisville defense plant.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Walter Haight, Washington Post: "Is it true that the Philadelphia pro football fans still sing 'Deep In the Heart of Texas' but they don't clap any more since Sammy Baugh failed to show up?"

SERVICE DEPT.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., claims the first WAAC basketball team is the one being organized there by Corp. Marion E. Swan, recreation leader of the fort's feminine contingent. . . . From Australia golfer Frankie Strafaci, now a sergeant, says his low scores aren't too surprising. "Out here you have to be straight," he explains. "I played eight rounds with only one ball in my possession. A slice or a hook means the ball is gone; that's how high the rough is in this 'tiger country'."

Buck Hurdler Wright Named

One of Two Big Ten Stars Honored on Team.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The All-American track and field team, generally accepted as the "who's who" in American cinder performance, today starred Joe McCluskey, of the New York A. C. and North Carolina pre-flight school, the A. A. U.'s Track and Field Guide reveals.

The team, picked by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., embraces all the branches of track and field competition, and this year features many stars who are now in the services.

Bob Wright, Ohio State hurdler, was one of two Big Ten track stars named on the team.

McCluskey brought to 23 the number of national titles he has won, by last year annexing the 10,000-meter and 15,000-meter championships, and was an easy choice for a place among the elite for the 12th time.

Ten appearances on the All-American team ranks Lou Gregory, distance star of the Millrose A. A., just behind McCluskey.

For the fifth straight year, Cornelius Warmerdam, of the San Francisco club, sensational 15-foot pole vaulter, and Ensign Fred Wolcott, of Georgia preflight, the hurdling ace, are on the team.

The late John Borican, who succumbed to pernicious anemia last month, and Greg Rice, of the New York A. C., appeared on the dream squad for the fourth straight year.

The New York A. C. placed most men on the squad, with 9.

ELMER LAYDEN CLEARS BAUGH OF CHARGES

CHICAGO—(AP)—Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football league, said today the case of Sammy Baugh, "charged with willful failure to attend and participate" in a benefit game at Philadelphia Dec. 27 between his Washington Redskin teammates and a league all star squad, had been "dropped for want of evidence in substantiation."

"Investigation has proved conclusively," Layden declared in a statement, "that Baugh did intend to play," that "he was sick at the time he was originally scheduled to leave his Rotan, Tex., ranch," and that transportation difficulties thwarted his efforts to reach Philadelphia the day before the game.

MountsHanded First Defeat

Kent State Upsets Defending Champions.

(By Associated Press)

Mt. Union's Purple Raiders, defending State and Ohio conference basketball kings, smarted under their first defeat of the season today.

Kent State's Golden Flashes knocked off the champs 56 to 49 an Ohio conference game at Kent last night as Bowling Green moved far out front in the Buckeye cage race by trimming Toledo Naval Training Station 59 to 34, for the Falcons' 14th victory against no defeats.

The Golden Flashes chalked up their fourth win in 10 starts. Kent led 29-19 at the intermission and staved off a late Mt. Union rally paced by Center Stan Baughman, who took scoring honors with 19 points.

The defeat gave the Raiders a record of two wins and one loss in the conference and left Capital, Baldwin Wallace, Oberlin, Ohio Northern, Muskingum, Wittenberg and Toledo at the league's unbeaten teams.

The unsullied class against all opposition narrowed to Bowling Green, Capital and Wilberforce. The Lutherans have five wins in as many tries and Wilberforce one for one.

Bowling Green, held below the 50 point mark in two previous games by Findlay and Ohio Northern stalling tactics, moved back toward the point-and-a-half a-minute clip it has been averaging all season.

Forward Wyndol Gray of Akron, the State's leading scorer, sank 23 of the 59 Bee-Gee markers to run his season total to 356 in 13 games.

In other games last night, John Carroll upset Western Reserve 41 to 35; Wooster trounced Hiram 69 to 29 at Wooster, Center Harry Eicher getting 24 for the home team, and Wittenberg overcame an early Ohio Wesleyan lead and won 54 to 38 at Delaware.

I'm a nostalgic character where jazz is concerned, and I hope that perhaps when the Duke dips into the books and plays some of the oldies, it may be possible to recover the mood of those dead dear days when the smoky Cotton club was the best place to go, and the band there used to play a wry, haunting little tune called "Sophisticated Lady."

I have been wondering how the actors and actresses in these parts are taking the fact that congratulatory telegrams on opening nights have been declared taboo, and the little ten-word gems that used to flutter between Moss and Gertie, George and Monty, and Noel and Cole are now in a class with pleasure driving and the second cup of coffee.

It does take a certain strain off the first-night group, because the task of composing endless wittily-worded wires to send to one's theatrical friends is a perennial shadow over the smart set. I hear tell, however, that a good-luck telegram can be dispatched, providing the message is sufficiently obscure. For example, one may wire: "Deliver six crates shipmen: A immediately. Good luck." or "Sorry, unable to meet the train. God bless you." and these messages are almost bound to reach their destinations.

Personally, I shouldn't dream of being so unpatriotic as to utilize this ruse. Besides, I'm afraid it might prove too much for the actors, who are never in good shape on an opening night, anyway.

The theatrical gentry seems to be breaking out in a rash of memorabilia. George Jessel's autobiography is due on the bookshelves soon; Sophie Tucker's recollections will be in print before long; John Barrymore's career is being recorded for posterity by Gene Fowler; and now I hear Larry Adler, the harmonica virtuoso, is working on a tome called "Hand to Mouth."

ASSERT FARM OUTPUT HURT BY WAR TIME

Rural Interests Appeal To Governor to Support Move To Turn Clocks Back.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Agricultural interests in the Ohio legislature, declaring that farm production was threatened by continuation of daylight saving time, appealed to Gov. John W. Bricker today to support a movement for its nullification.

Rep. Willis I. Cory, chairman of the house agricultural committee, went directly to the governor to submit the arguments of the rural areas and asked that he convey them to the war production board.

Cory, a Seneca county Republican, declared farm production would decline this year if the clock were not turned back an hour. He cited the problems of farmers whose customary chore schedules have been disrupted by the "fast time."

The farmers' point of view will be relayed by the governor to Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board in Baltimore Monday.

The legislature yesterday asked Nelson to come to Ohio, or send a representative, to elaborate on the WPB's recommendation that this state retain eastern war time. The WPB contends the present time is necessary to conserve electric energy.

The senate judiciary committee, which tonight begins hearings on two of 19 bills introduced to nullify war time, voted to ask Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert for an opinion on whether the legislature can remove the state to the central time zone without violating the federal constitution.

It was reliably reported that about half the Republicans questioned the wisdom of nullifying war time, imposed by congressional act, in view of the Michigan attorney general's ruling that his legislature had no authority to take such action.

(Despite the ruling, the Michigan house passed a bill to exempt the state from daylight saving war time.)

Legislation proposed in bills introduced yesterday included: To exempt property of housing authorities from taxes and special assessments; to outlaw common law marriages; and to employ guards for dams in the Miami conservancy district.

LOSS IN STORE FIRE $100,000

Firemen Battle Dense Smoke and Ice During Blaze at Cleveland Structure.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND — Damage in a three-alarm fire which broke out in the Stearn company department store, shortly after six p. m. last night has been estimated today at over $100,000 by Fire Chief James E. Granger.

The apparent cause was a switch box in the rear of the store, from which, firemen surmise, flames shot upward along a connecting cable.

For the most part the conflagration was confined to the first, mezzanine, and second floors, with the third floor in serious danger of destruction as the firemen brought the blaze under control some three hours after the first alarm had been turned in at 6:12 p. m.

No one was injured since the store had closed at 5:30 p. m., and all employes had left.

Outside the store, which is situated on Euclid avenue between 9th and 12th streets, firemen battled dense smoke, frigid blasts of wind, and ice which formed under their feet from dripping water hoses.

They were bolstered through their long task by hot coffee and sandwiches dispensed by a Red Cross mobile canteen.

Traffic, including streetcars, along Euclid avenue was rerouted and large crowds of spectators were kept at safe distances by police lines.

Despondent Over School, Girl, 12, Attempts Suicide

WILLARD — Despondent because she was not permitted to attend the village school of her choice, a 12-year-old New Haven township girl drank a solution of lye water yesterday and today she was in a serious condition at Willard Municipal hospital.

Reports from the hospital said the girl wanted to attend school in Plymouth and, upon learning that regulations required her to attend the New Haven school because of her residence location, she took the lye potion at her home.

Her parents found her dangerously ill and they immediately rushed her to the hospital. Her parents said she had been despondent for several days because of the school situation.

Although describing her condition as serious, physicians today said there was a possibility that the girl will recover.

WARTIME CREDIT OPERATIONS STRESSED AT BUREAU'S DINNER

More than 100 persons, attending the annual dinner meeting of the Mansfield Credit Rating bureau at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night heard V. H. Lodde, manager of the bureau, stress the importance of careful credit operation during war time.

Lodde's talk followed a dinner and entertainment provided by students of Marguerite Speas. L. A. Ott, president of the bureau, presided at the meeting.

Lodde outlined new services instituted by the bureau during the past year, one of which was the providing of personnel reports for Mansfield war industries. Another was the providing of employment reports for all employers.

He stressed the importance, during war time when taxes and higher living costs have curtailed purchasing power of consumers, of closely watching charge accounts, and urged careful observation of federal Regulation W, which provides that credit privileges of listed merchandise not paid by the 10th day following the second month of purchase must be withdrawn.

Lodde said that the credit bureau now has more than 125,000 master cards on file, an increase of 10,000 in the past year.

Participating in the entertainment program were Norma Scott, who sang and danced; Kay Alexander, Bertha Workman and Marilyn Duff, in an acrobatic dance, Jacquelyn Pilot, Jeanne Daugherty and Dick Stafford, who danced.

At the conclusion of the program there was dancing, with Nels Blocker's orchestra providing the music.

DECLARES HE JILTED HER TO WED MODEL

Former Actress Released on Bail After Shots Go Wild In Parking Lot.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO — Charged with attempting to shoot a millionaire lumberman she claimed had jilted her, Madge Bellamy, once called the most beautiful woman in America, was released from the San Francisco city jail today on $500 bail.

Three shots were fired in the melee which occurred at a swank club atop aristocratic Nob Hill, but an automobile was the only casualty.

Miss Bellamy, who thrilled stage and screen audiences a decade ago, freely admitted she had tried to shoot the lumberman, A. Stanwood Murphy, president of the Pacific Lumber company, because he had promised to marry her—and then married a model instead.

The three shots fired by Miss Bellamy failed to hit the lumberman who left the scene with what open-mouthed witnesses called "a commando crawl." Attaches of the staid old brownstone Pacific Union club where Murphy was a member, said the lumber king "left in a hurry and said he wouldn't be back."

The shooting occurred at a parking area in front of the club and was witnessed by three startled pedestrians. One bullet smashed through a car door, the handle of which Murphy was reaching for. The others failed to register in the vicinity.

Murphy told police he knew Madge Bellamy and "couldn't imagine" why she should go around firing pistol shots at him.

Matter-of-factly, Miss Bellamy told police she had been looking for the millionaire lumberman for almost six months—ever since he called her by long distance telephone to tell her he was getting married, but not to her.

"I told him I just couldn't take that," she said. "We had been going together for five years and he had kept telling me he would marry he as soon as he got a divorce. A few days ago I read he had married this—this model."

The three startled bystanders recovered from their surprise after the third shot and snatched the gun from Miss Bellamy's hand before any more shots could be fired.

Judges Want Home Rule In County Welfare Agencies

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's juvenile judges favor establishment of county welfare departments on a home rule basis.

The Ohio Association of Juvenile Judges' convention approved yesterday Gov. John W. Bricker's recommendation for legislation to bring county welfare work under one organization, but conditioned the approval with the provision that such legislation should not empower the state welfare department to boss the county units.

County welfare work presently is handled by several different agencies. The governor, in his biennial address to the general assembly, recommended steps to correlate these duties under one office.

The jurists also approved a recommendation of the Ohio Children's Code commission that state industrial schools be called the "Ohio boys school" and the "Ohio girls school" to eliminate the stigma sometimes attached to industrial school inmates.

The convention concurred in a commission recommendation for establishment of detention or boarding homes for children in 59 Ohio counties where such facilities are not available.

A LOVELY informal wedding was performed in St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. today when Miss Martha F. Gerstmeyer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gerstmeyer, became the bride of Cpl. Thomas J. Creamer, of Camp Young, Indio, Cal., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Creamer, 100 Carpenter road.

Palms and ferns formed the background, and were placed at the entrance and sides of the altar for the ceremony, which was read by Msgr. R. C. Goebel. Lighted church candles were placed on the altar.

A program of nuptial music was played by Sister M. Theoclete, organist, and included Organ Prelude, for the processional; the nuptial mass "St. Peter's," for two voices, by J. Singenberger; "Santa Maria," by M. Haller, as the Offertory, and "Organ Postlude."

The bride wore a becoming floor-length gown of sheer marquisette, over moonbeam taffeta, in a rich shade of Camellia rose. The tight bodice was topped with a drop-shoulder yoke, a wide V neckline, and had full puffed sleeves, with long tight cuffs. The effect of a hooped-skirt was achieved by the use of crinoline, which finished the slip. She wore a Juliet-type hat of Camellia petals, with a starched veil, and carried her mother's prayer book, on which were placed pink camellias with a shower of narrow white satin ribbons and stevia. The prayerbook had been carried at the first Communion and wedding of the new Mrs. Creamer's mother.

Mrs. Howard R. Niggles, of Dundalk, Md., the former Isabelle Gerstmeyer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her floor-length gown was of platinum gray, with large flower motifs in American Beauty and green applique on the sleeves and around the skirt. The sleeves of Mrs. Niggles' gown were short and puffed. An American Beauty juliet styled hat of bengaline, with front-bow trim, completed her costume. Her front style bouquet was fashioned of red roses in an American Beauty shade, matching the appliques on her gown.

Mrs. R. C. Straub, another sister of the bride, with whom she resides, attended the ceremony in a black crepe dress, black accessories, and a corsage of gardenias and shattered carnations. The bridegroom's mother also wore black crepe with matching accessories, and a corsage which matched Mrs. Straub's.

Howard R. Niggles, of Dundalk, Md., brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man, while ushers were the bridegroom's two brothers, Peter Creamer, jr., and Robert Creamer, both of Mansfield.

Following the wedding a breakfast for the immediate families was served at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Guests were seated at a U shaped table, centered with a bride's cake, with low arrangements of pink sweet peas, white pompons and stevia on either side. The same flower arrangements decorated the smaller tables.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Straub, 437 Parker street.

Early this afternoon Cpl. and Mrs. Creamer left for a short wedding trip, their destination not disclosed. For traveling the bride wore a two piece black suit, trimmed in pink, topped with a Persian Lamb coat, and black accessories. Her corsage was taken from the prayer book.

Mrs. Creamer is a graduate of St. Peter's Catholic school, and is court stenographer in the Richland county Common Pleas court. Cpl. Creamer also is a graduate of St. Peter's school and at present is stationed in California.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Korn, of Galion; Mrs. Harvey Niggles, of Marion; and Miss Mary Helen Creamer, of Dayton.

Wedding Date Made Known to Friends

THE HOME of Mrs. Carl Willis, sr., 618 Harter avenue, was the scene of a delightful party Sunday evening when Mrs. Willis, Mrs. Carl Winbigler and Miss Hermine Winbigler were hostesses for an announcement party for Miss Henrietta Winbigler, whose marriage to Corp. Tech. Carl Willis, jr., was an event of June 7, 1941, at the home of Dallas Young, justice of the peace, in Napoleon, O.

Mrs. Winbigler and Miss Winbigler are mother and sister, respectively, of the honoree, while Mrs. Willis is the bridegroom's mother.

For her wedding the new Mrs. Willis wore a green and gold dress with white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of gardenias. The couple was unattended.

Guests at the party played ping-pong, shuffle board and cards during the evening, with prizes being won by Mrs. Fred Willis, Miss Betty Fisher and the honoree. The prize winners gave their awards to Mrs. Willis.

A buffet luncheon was served, the centerpiece of the serving table being of white chrysanthemums and red carnations. Favors were miniature bridesmaid hats in a patriotic color scheme. These were attached to streamers, leading to a large hat in the center of the table, on which was written the wedding date.

Mrs. Willis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Winbigler, 406 Fourth avenue, is a graduate of Madison high school, and is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. She is residing at her parents' home.

Corp. Tech. Willis, a graduate of Springfield high school, is with the U. S. Army somewhere in North Africa. Before his induction, on Jan. 16, 1942, he was employed at the Tappan Stove company.

Tourist Members Present Timely Papers at Meet

"The Traveled Ways of Ohio" by Mrs. William Jesson and "The New China" by Mrs. George Moore were the titles of papers read at the afternoon meeting of the Tourist club Tuesday, when 13 members and one guest were present at the Women's Club. Mrs. Ralph W. Cary of Cleveland, was the only guest.

Mrs. Jesson presented "The Traveled Ways of Ohio" for the first part of the program. She introduced her subpect with a historical and geographical sketch of the state. Travel on trails, rivers, canals, railroads, interurbans and highways was discussed. The present roads were traced from the early Indian paths to the paved highways of today.

Mrs. Jesson took the club members on an imaginary highway tour, starting at the northeastern part of the state, following the Lake Erie shore line to Cleveland. She progressed via Sandusky and Camp Perry to Toledo, south to Marion and Columbus, and east through the pottery and steel districts to Akron and Mansfield.

Points of historical significance in each city were mentioned. In closing, Mrs. Jesson suggested a tour of our city parks in the spring, with no handicaps of rationed tires or gasoline to consider.

Mrs. Moore's paper of timely interest, "The New China," presented the old regime with its clan system and filial piety. It was reviewed by means of the viewpoints of authors, missionaries, and tourists.

China is the most tradition-bound nation on earth succumbing to the New Order, it was stated by Mrs. Moore. The work of Rewi Alley with the Chinese Industrial Corporation called the Indusco Company, has done much for the advancement of China. Japanese invasion has caused great unification in China and actually has made it stronger. War has changed its whole pattern in such ways as breaking down of territorial barriers, lessening of class distinction, and advancement and freedom of women, she said.

Mrs. Moore spoke on the diplomatic and political relationships between China and the Western world, and the results of these relationships.

The hostess for the Feb. 2 meeting, to be held in the Memorial room of the Women's Club, will be Mrs. R. W. Cellars.

VOWS EXCHANGED IN CHAPEL AT FT. BRAGG

THE CHAPEL of the 401st Glider Regiment at Fort Bragg, N. C., was the scene of the wedding of a Mansfield couple, when Miss Naomi Kathryn Grandon, daughter of Chester E. Grandon and the late Mrs. Grandon, 575 Stocking avenue, became the bride of Cpl. John Lawrence Carr, of Fort Bragg, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Carr, 640 North Bowman street, on Friday, Jan. 15.

The double-ring ceremony was read by Chaplain Joseph Duehren in the presence of officers and enlisted men of the bridegroom's company. Music by the chapel organist included Schubert's "Serenade," played before the ceremony, and the traditional wedding marches. "Ave Maria" was played softly during the service.

The altar of the chapel was decorated with white gladioli.

The bride wore a frosty green dressmaker suit, with brown accessories, and a white orchid corsage. She was given in marriage by Capt. H. S. Holt, the bridegroom's commanding officer.

Mrs. Earl Graessle of Detroit, Mich., served as matron of honor, wearing a burgundy-colored velveteen dress, with navy blue accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of gardenias.

Pvt. Joseph Murphy was best man, while ushers were Pfc. Earl G. Graessle, and Cpl. George Procknow, all of Fort Bragg.

Following the ceremony, Cpl. and Mrs. Carr motored to Raleigh, N. C., for a few days. The bride wore a green and white printed two-piece dress, with red accessories, and a matching topcoat for traveling.

Mrs. Carr, a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, has been employed as stenographer in the office of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company. Cpl. ## "Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"BUT," Stephen Redfield said protestingly, "I cannot permit—"

I interrupted him quickly, lest he guess my reason for wanting Winters to stay on guard.

"Please, Steve," I said trying hard to put a coaxing note into my voice, "don't make it hard for me. I'm only trying to help you, for you really are in a bad state."

With a gesture that would have started the heart throbs of his countless feminine fans, Steve took my hands from his shoulder and raised it to his lips.

Offers Apology

"Dear lady," he said, "I am your obedient servant, of course And will you please apologize for me to Mary? Ask her not to be bitter against me."

"Mary never is bitter against anybody," I told him

"I must not keep you longer," he said, with a gesture to Winters as he strode to the door.

I had hardly closed the door before Mary flashed out of the bedroom and flung herself upon me.

"You're the eighth wonder of the world," she caroled, and not heeding when I raised a protesting hand, she swept on excitedly "If Winters hadn't been here, I never would have left you, for if ever anybody was primed for battle, murder and sudden death, Steve was. But you're the champion lion tamer of two continents."

"You must have left the door open," I said, "though I was sure I heard it shut."

"You did," she said triumphantly, "but you didn't hear when I opened it again. I just couldn't stand it to be shut away from all the shooting. Steve was so absorbed in himself and you and Winters in watching him that none of you heard or saw me."

She pirouetted around the room, one arm curved over her head, and came to rest on an ottoman close to my big arm chair

"Come sit down and invite your soul for a minute" she said, and I obediently sank into the chair. She caught my hand, laid her soft cheek unpon it, and broke our brief silence with a long, low whistle.

"Am I ever glad Steve got away from here before Noel got back!" she said. "Oh-h-h!"

She was on her feet with a swift, lithe movement, and one hand went to her throat. Then we both hurried to the door, from which came sounds as if someone outside were violently kicking it.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, January 21.

Excellent results in attaining the most important aims and objectives should come from the quick marshalling of all the forces and faculties. Much in the way of permanent and solid good fortune may be attained, with probably public and community recognition

Those whose birthday it is may be on the threshhold of a year of much adventure, romance, travel, change, and exceptional opportunity for putting the future and its fortune on a sound and enduring basis. While swift grasp of openings is required yet there should be calmness and poise.

A child born on this day may have unusual or unique talents and abilities which should assure it a secure, romantic and adventurous life, possibly in public service.

"The Authority on Authorities"

DO FIRST THINGS FIRST

It is not a mere matter of what things you do. It is also a question of the order in which you do them What are you going to do first? What second? Those problems can settle the entire fate of many a hand. If you select the correct order of events, you may bring in your contract, whereas a mistake in what usually is called "timing" can upset your whole apple-cart.

West led the club K and then, not wishing to set up dummy's Q for a discard, shifted to the heart J, at both tables of a team match, the K winning at both. One declarer then went after his trump suit, winning the K and losing the J finesse to the Q The heart 9 knocked out the A and the spade A cleared trumps. A club was led toward the Q but the A won and the heart 9 was sent to the Q. That set the contract, but was not all The diamond 3 was led, the 10 being finessed to the J for down two, and the thirteenth heart was ruffed by South. Now unable to finesse diamonds again, he also had to lose another trick to the K and was defeated three tricks.

The other declarer, after winning with the heart K on the second trick, came to his hand with the spade A, foregoing the finesse, so he could surely lead toward the club Q early enough to establish it for a heart discard West took his A and lead the heart 9 to the A Now the club Q trashed South's last heart, and the diamond 10 was finessed to the J. The heart 10 was ruffed by South, and he led the spade 3 to the K, having the great good fortune to drop the Q The diamond Q was finessed, the spade J and 4 cashed, and the diamond A completed the contract.

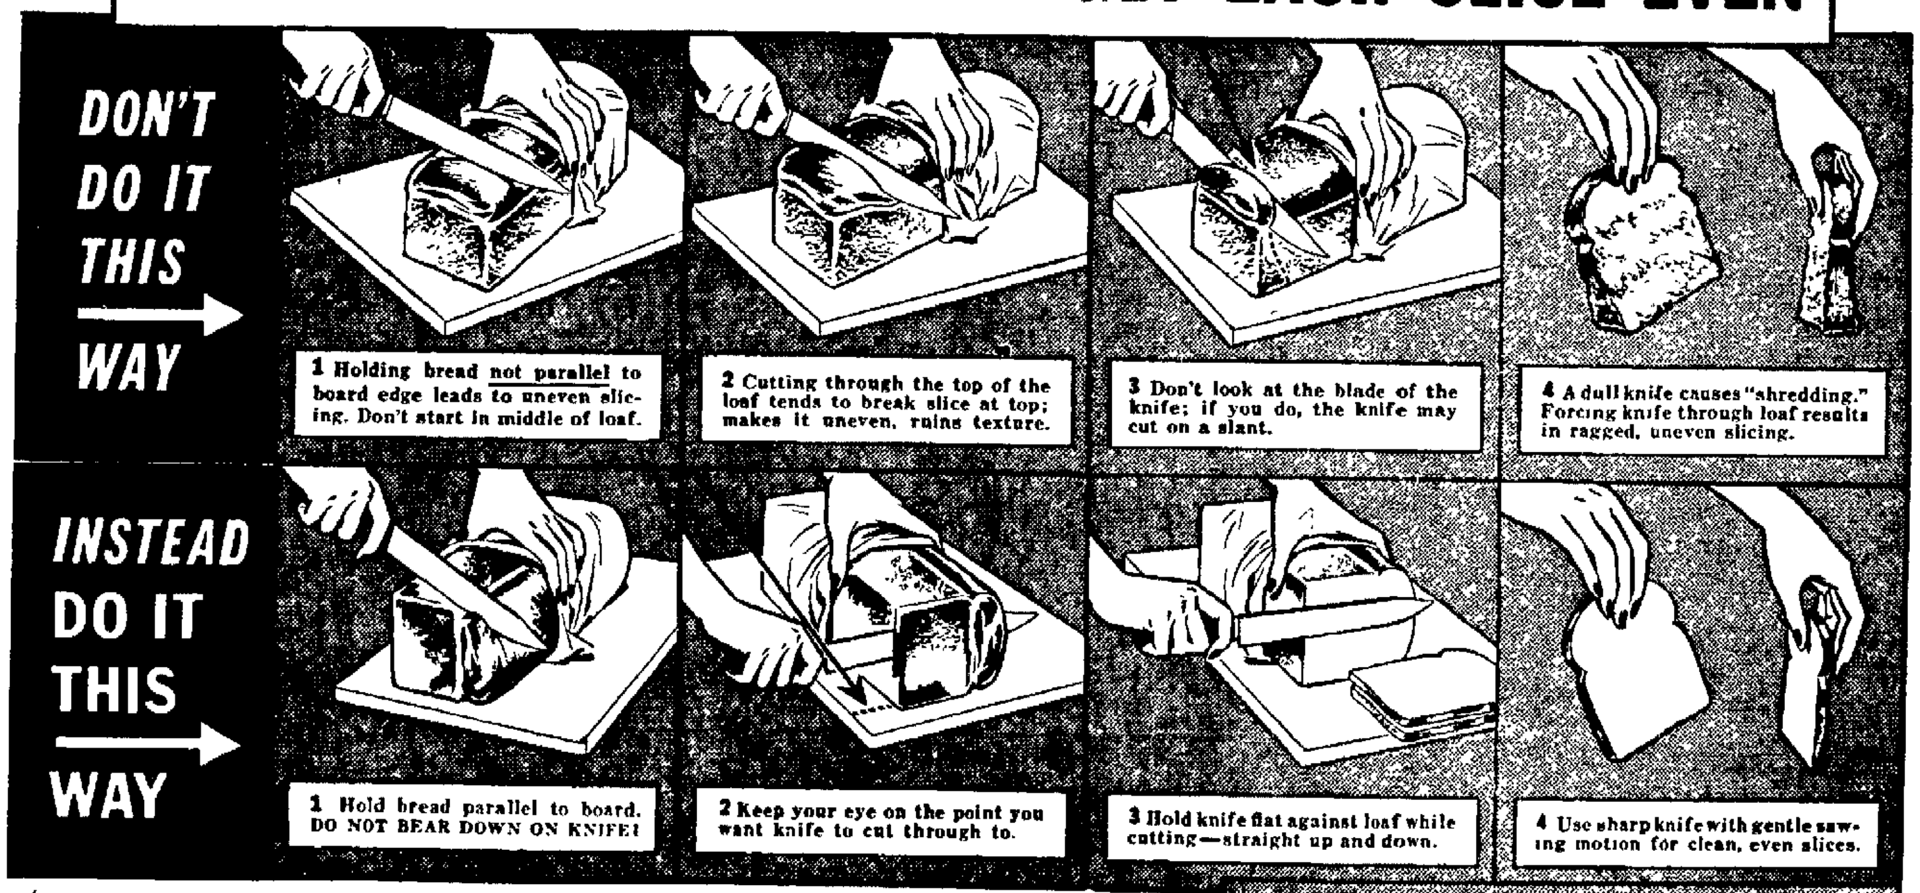
LADY! SHARPEN YOUR BREAD KNIFE

Effective Monday, January 18th, The Slicing Of Bread By Bakers Prohibited By The Food Administrator As A War Measure... So Now You Must Slice Your Own

HOW TO SLICE BREAD AND GET EACH SLICE EVEN



DON'T DO IT THIS WAY
INSTEAD DO IT THIS WAY

1 Holding bread not parallel to board edge leads to uneven slicing. Don't start in middle of loaf.
2 Cutting through the top of the loaf tends to break slice at top; makes it uneven, ruins texture.
3 Don't look at the blade of the knife; if you do, the knife may cut on a slant.
4 A dull knife causes "shredding." Forcing knife through loaf results in ragged, uneven slicing.

1 Hold bread parallel to board. DO NOT BEAR DOWN ON KNIFE!
2 Keep your eye on the point you want knife to cut through to.
3 Hold knife flat against loaf while cutting—straight up and down.
4 Use sharp knife with gentle sawing motion for clean, even slices.

GET WONDER BREAD

Slo-baked texture—easy to slice!
Brings you Vitamin $B_1$

You will want to save the important chart you see above.

These pictures show what not to do and what to do in order to slice today's unsliced bread and get each slice even—top to bottom and across.

Now more than ever before you'll appreciate the easy slicing, firm tenderness of slo-baked Wonder Bread.

In addition, Wonder Bread contains Vitamin $B_1$. Which vitamin, science discovers, is necessary in order to help transform bread into energy properly.

And 3 out of 4 people fail to get plenty of Vitamin $B_1$ in their diet naturally, according to figures from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Then, too, Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

So get this easy-to-slice, doubly fresh Wonder Bread from your grocer today. You'll be glad you did!

Paul Waner and Cooney Released

NEW YORK Presidents Ford Frick and William Harridge of the National and American leagues hold a routine meeting today to iron out kinks in the 1943 major league schedule but this placid baseball picture may be disrupted by the beginning of spirited bidding for outfielders Paul Waner and Johnny Cooney

Although the major leagues opening and closing dates have been set for April 21 and Oct 3 the two league heads must reallocate a few games arrange the night game program and then submit it to club heads for approval The final schedule usually is announced at the February meeting of the majors

Harmony which returned to the big league scene for a few hours when the New York Giants and the New York Yankees agreed on a new spring schedule that eliminated a previous conflict in exhibition game dates, may be raised by the need of the Dodgers and Giants for outfielders.

Cooney and Waner both over 40 have 35 years of major league experience between them and were released by the Boston Braves yesterday Both have been classified 4H by the army and President Bob Quinn of the Braves admitted he had let them go because of an agreement to free them if they could better their status as a player or manager

The Dodgers could use both or either one of them since they have only five outfielders including Dixie Walker, who has tentatively admitted plans to quit the game and retain his post of recreation director with the Sperry gyroscope plant

Chicken in the DOUGH!

Uncle Sam's need of 8,000,000,000 chickens in 1943 puts them in the really big dough, for this equals a cash outlay of $10,600,000,000.

Who will get this money?

Well, you may get your share of it by raising some chickens of your own. To start requires but a small investment in baby chicks, a stack of coops, anda bag of feed. Large space is unnecessary.

Help Uncle Sam with his feeding problem and make yourself some money while doing it!

MIXED PRICES RULE IN EARLY STOCK TRADING

Pennsylvania Railroad Has Court Order To Repay $23,000,000 Losses.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock prices were mixed at the opening of the market today in moderately active trading.

Ahead a bit in early deals were Anaconda, Goodrich, Western Union, U. S. Rubber, and Southern Railway, among others. Those which found the going rougher included Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Bethlehem, Standard Oil (NJ) and Texas Co.

Pennsylvania Railroad had to contend with a court decision ordering payment to Pennroad Corp., of $23,104,565 for losses and damages suffered during 1930-31 when Pennsylvania directors handled Pennroad interests.

Utility share watchers studied the Edison Electric Institute's weekly power report showing generator output holding about steady at a high level.

U. S. TOPS WORLD NOW IN VOLUME OF FUR TRADE

Nation Makes, Buys and Sells Record Number of Pelts From Everywhere.

By F. D. BASS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — M'lady may find it difficult to get more than her ration of coffee, but she'll find no difficulty in getting as many furs as she wants as "the war has created a tendency for us to buy somewhat greater totals of Western Hemisphere furs," Donald R. Crone of the Department of Commerce deslared today.

During the last 40 years, he continued, the United States' big but variable trade in raw furs has had its ups and downs. But today we are no longer the world's greatest exporter. Rather, we are an importer of furs.

"The United States now manufuctures, buys, and sells more furs than any other nation," he said, "and the retail value of the business approximates $300,000,000 in good years."

U. S. exports in dollar value, in 1920 reached $32,887,000 and in 1938, were $13,800,000. While the latest dollar high is much below that of 1920, it does not mean that the United States' domestic production has declined; rather it emphasizes that home consumption has improved.

Normally, the United States imports pelts from everywhere, and of the 600 various mammals of the world used in making finished garments, our furriers ordinarily employ 60 different major types of skins in commercial quantities. However, hundreds of different names are used for the processed and finished furs which confuse the consumer.

To protect the sometimes misled and uninformed buyers, the U. S. Federal Trade commission took steps to bring about the proper labelling of furs and fur garments so that the last name of the skin is now the actual and original name.

Climate and prosperity may be credited with bringing about the importance of fur manufacture and distribution in the United States, but it is significant to note that even in the very small centers of the population, hundreds of thousands of fur garments, muffs, hats, gloves, and robes are sold annually.

Unlike the custom in some parts of the world, Americans do not buy only one fur in a lifetime, but own several types of garments and frequently replace them, thus stimulating the business and its turn-over, from trapper to store salesman.

Chinchillas are the "jewels" of the fur business—"the furrier's fur." Actually there are few such coats in existence. Some chinchilla coats are worth as much as $50,000.

But fox, muskrat, lamb, opossum, mink, raccoon, beaver and skunk are staple pelts of the fur industry and the imported nutria, ocelot, otter and martin, will give m'lady both style and comfort on a more reasonable but varied price range.

Charged With Illegally Taking Ration Coupons.

CLEVELAND—(P)—Two Cleveland gasoline dealers accused of illegally accepting ration coupons 4, 5 and 6 were summoned before the regional Office of Price Administration today for hearings which may result in suspension of their licenses to operate.

Climaxing a drive in 27 northeastern Ohio counties to stamp out illicit sales of gasoline, the OPA through its regional attorney, James C. Gruener, announced that individuals who made the purchases also will be summoned and their ration books most likely revoked.

Similar charges will follow against operators in Akron, East Liverpool, Youngstown and Warren, Gruener announced, adding that criminal actions will be prepared against the more flagrant violators by U. S. District Attorney Don C. Miller.

TINY PRINCESS FIRST EUROPEAN ROYALTY BORN IN N. AMERICA

(Picture on Page 7)

(By International News Service)

OTTAWA, Ont. — Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands today was the proud mother of another baby girl, the first member of any European royal family to be born in North America.

Following the birth of the 33-year-old crown princess' third child last night, Dr. John F. Puddicombe, the attending physician, reported that both mother and baby are "doing well."

An announcement issued by the Ottawa general hospital following the birth stated that "the little princess is a healthy baby of seven pounds, 12 ounces, which is five ounces more than the average weight."

The infant princess has two older sisters, Princess Beatrix who will be five years old Jan. 31 and Princess Irene who will be four in August.

The name chosen for the new princess was not made public immediately.

Prince Bernard, Juliana's husband, who waited in his wife's suite at the hospital, was the first to be informed of the baby's birth. He immediately phoned Queen Wilhelmina, in London. He said that he was "very happy and very glad."

A son would have become automatically heir to the throne. As matters now stand Princess Beatrix, as the oldest of Princess Juliana's daughters, is heiress to the throne after her mother, who will succeed Queen Wilhelmina.

Princess Juliana and her two daughters came to Canada shortly after the Germans invaded the Low Countries in the spring of 1940.

While the new princess was born in the Ottawa hospital she paradoxically first saw the light of day on Netherlands soil. King George VI of England in an official proclamation formally gave extra-territorial status to the place of birth of Juliana's child, in effect giving it the status of Netherlands soil.

The procedure was followed because under British law a child born under the Canadian flag might have been legally considered a British subject. Had the child been a son difficulties might have arisen over the accession to the Netherlands throne.

yesterday when classes were dismissed at noon to permit their return to country homes before drifts impeded bus travel.

Acting Police Chief John Miller today requested skid chains for police cruisers after a second police car became involved in a traffic accident last night. A cruiser driven by Patrolman Don Mitchell was struck by a cab driven by Cyrus Messimer, jr., 120 North Walnut street, when neither car was able to stop on icy pavement at the West Fourth street and Penn avenue.

On Sunday, Lieut. Bruce Friday suffered a spinal injury when a cruiser he was driving was struck by a skidding auto at Park avenue west and Benton street.

Mrs. Donna Munster, 575 Crescent road, escaped injury yesterday evening when her skidding auto sheared off a utility pole on South Franklin avenue, according to a report by Patrolmen Earl Korn and John Grohol.

Autos driven by David Hughes, 310 West Fourth street, and Emil J. Paller, 52 East Second street, were damaged slightly in a collision at West Fourth and Sycamore streets.

During the last 24 hours official weather observations in Mansfield showed a low of four degrees below zero, with a high of 13 above, but shivering and suffering subsided with the abatement of winds which attained gale proportions at times yesterday, reaching a velocity of 30 to 35 miles an hour around 6 p. m.

Six deaths in the Chicago area were attributed directly to the cold wave and a reported 13 below reading was said to be the coldest Jan. 20 in the Windy City's recorded weather history.

In some states travel to war plants was seriously hampered while along Ohio's Lake Erie shore some highways were impassable in spots.

2 SHELBY HIGH SCHOOL YOUTHS TAKEN BY ARMY

Boys To Get Their Diplomas Without Completing School Work.

SHELBY — Two Shelby high school pupils, Ray Simon and Francis Hiatt, have been enrolled in the armed services.

First of the pupils to answer the call to the colors, the two youths are members of the senior class and will receive diplomas although not completing their work in the second semester.

Under a ruling made by school officials, any senior called or enlisting in the service during his second semester and carrying a grade average of circle 4 will receive a diploma along with the other members of the class.

Hiatt, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hiatt of this city, enlisted and expects to be called to a training station on Jan. 26. Simon, son of Mrs. Anna Simon of Shelby, has been inducted and will leave this week with the Board 3 group to a reception center for assignment to a army training camp.

Both youths were members of the Whippet grid squad last fall and received athletic letters. Hiatt played in the backfield while Simon filled in an end position. Hiatt was also a member of the basketball squad for several seasons.

School officials disclosed that six other pupils will have reached their 18th birthday anniversaries by the end of this school semester and will be eligible for the draft. Ten others will become eligible before the 1943-44 school term opens next fall.

CHAPTER VII

"Well, it would say 'U. S. S. Columbiana.'"

"What's that, a battleship?"

"She's a troopship."

"Ah," said Ruby, sounding triumphant for him, "so you get across!"

He couldn't remember her liking anybody quite so well, or for that matter, ever feeling so well liked himself or anywhere nearly so well understood. He thanked her with his eyes, and Ruby blinked and twinkled back.

"That's right," he answered then. "Well, that is, I've been twice, so far. We just got back."

"When?"

"Yesterday."

"Twice is a lot," said Ruby.

He kind of thought it was too, and he half nodded. "I guess I've got to go a few more times, before it's over," he said hopefully. "And next time maybe I'll get to go ashore over there, if I have any luck. I haven't been yet," he continued, talking a great deal for him. "I didn't rate liberty other time I was there—so all I saw of France was just only what you can see from the ship."

"Wait a minute, now," said Ruby. "Just run through that again. You mean to tell me they took you all the way over there and then didn't even let you land?"

"Not yet."

"I never heard of such a thing!" she cried indignantly. "Is that the way to treat you? What's the matter with 'em?"

He had to laugh, again. "Well, but that's the way it goes, though. If you're not up for liberty—"

"Oh, pooh!" she exploded. "Rules! They could've stretched a point, couldn't they? Sometimes I think too much red tape is going to lose this war for us . . . Hello, there, Curly," she added to another sailor who had wandered near. He was called Curly, too, because of his hair. Ruby guessed everything.

The navy received her ceremoniously. Somebody—the one named Farrington—stood up at her approach, and Hobey knew from knowing Farrington that this must be the correct thing, so he rose too—he was the second—and then all the rest got up, or started up, while Ruby sputtered, "Stop it, stop it! As you were, boys. Goodness, I'm no lady, what do you think!" She took Hobey's chair and sat in it, and when a waiter brought an extra chair she said, "Right here, beside me," and so there he was, just where she wanted him, and where he wished to be.

Ruby picked up her coffee cup. "Go on, now. Tell me about your girl. You've got a girl, haven't you? Or six or seven?"

He shook his head.

"No girl at all? What, not in any port?" said Ruby in astonishment.

"I used to have a girl," he said, "but she got married."

"Tough."

He nodded.

"How long ago was that?"

"Back last December."

"What's her name?"

"Rosalie."

"And where does she live? Where is she now?"

"Boston. With her family. Or anyhow that's where she was, last I knew. Her husband went to France so she came home . . . I saw her once," Hobey continued involuntarily. "I mean once since she was married. In the spring. I was back there last April. It was just before I got transferred from Charlestown to New London. I went up to their house with the money, and I saw all three of them, her and her mother and father. I was afraid she wouldn't be there, but she was."

"I suppose she's very beautiful?"

He nodded. "Yeah. She is."

There was a little silence which Ruby was careful not to break. It was plain that his mind was back in April in that golden room. "She had a gray dress on," he blurted out suddenly; and fell silent again, his face flushing. He didn't know why he'd said that. He just had.

"She blond or brunet?" Ruby asked matter-of-factly, to make it all right.

"Well, not brunet. And not blond like you mean when you say 'blond.' She's got kind of reddish-color hair."

"And blue eyes?"

"Gray."

"She was different, though," he went on after a minute. "She didn't look any different, but she was. Quieter, and like that. She didn't talk much, or smile much, like she used to. I guess she probably worries all the time about her husband, well I mean, like anybody would. He's an artillery lieutenant, and he likely got to the front quick, come he got over there. I guess she always has that on her mind."

"I imagine she does."

"She talked some, though," Hobey said next. "They were in the parlor drinkin' coffee—it was after supper I went up there—and Rosalie and her mother were both knittin', and we all talked. Rosalie was makin' a sweater for her husband, and she measured it on me for size—" He touched his shoulders with his thumbs, "—across the back. And then she said when she finished it she'd make me one, a gray one, and send it to me at New London."

"And did she?" Ruby said, sounding a little fearful of the answer. But it seemed to be all right. Hobey's whole face glowed, suddenly.

"Yeah," he said, "she did, at that. I got it six weeks later."

"And I'll bet you wear it every minute!" Ruby said, laughing gently at him. "Day and night, winter and summer. It's probably under that blouse right now."

Hobey laughed too and he said, "Sure."

But then he thought he'd tell her how it really was. "No, you lose," he said. "I never wore it even once yet."

"You just keep it, eh?" said Ruby, understanding even that.

* * *

It had been a good summer for Rosalie, after the dreary spring. Sometime in May, and suddenly, between one night and the next morning, she had become herself again—so much herself again that it perplexed her to look back upon those recent weeks of fear, and grief, and solitude, and abnegation. "What in the world was the matter with me?" she demanded of her mother. "Moping like that! Why didn't you push me out of the house, and make me do things?"

"My dear, how could I? Your father and I tried our very—"

"But it was ridiculous!" Rosalie said. "It was morbid. Dramatizing myself all over the place."

She said "Why, I behaved as if Phil had been killed, instead of simply sent across!"

She could say words like "killed" without emotion now. They were as other people's words. Nothing was going to happen to Phil, because things like that did not happen to her. Not to her. Phil was all right, and he would be all right.

He had sailed in March, and this was May, and this was June—he had been gone three months, then four, and so their separation had been longer than their honeymoon. The end of August made it five and a half months, and then it had been longer than their whole affair, prior to their parting, Rosalie thought. I never knew him very well. I never saw him very often. She kept thinking that, since it explained so much of what she felt—more literally, so much of what she did not feel, and could not feel, and could not even very well remember any more.

Life was so full, now that she lived again and ran about again. Things had a new light over them, the old adventures had a novelty. She herself was new—she was the beautiful and popular young Mrs. Phillip Strange, as such appearing in the social columns oftener by far, and higher up, in better company than Rosalie Hastings ever had. It amused her to become a little different even in appearance, to wear her hair another way, to dress with subtle daring.

She danced all night for charity, those summer nights—for war relief, for campaign funds, for clothing for the Belgians, and for the Bridge of Ships for Liberty, and for Democracy. She danced in country clubs, and in canteens; in hotel ballrooms, and in private houses, and in flag-draped public halls where dowagers and debutantes were gracious hostesses to gobs and doughboys. And in the daytime there was work for everybody, everywhere, and there were countless patriotic jobs especially for pretty girls.

Rosalie's letters to her husband, postmarked June, July and August, 1918—postmarked Boston, since she chose to stay in town—Rosalie's letters read like pages torn each day from her engagement book, and filled in just a little for the sake of clarity.

There was no time to write much more than that. She had a committee meeting, she had a rehearsal for a benefit play, this was her morning at the Red Cross, this was her afternoon at the canteen. She was posing for an artist for a war poster dressed as a yeomanette; she was collecting books for the Y library at Charlestown. Yesterday she had sold thrift stamps in the lobby of a theater, today she would sell war-saving certificates on Boston Common, and tomorrow morning, and all morning long, she would stand at the corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, presiding picturesquely over a red, white and blue barrel with large black printing on its sides: "Deposit Peach Stones in This Barrel—the U. S. Government Needs Them—" She would say, "Thank you," very sweetly, very personally, all morning long.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 15 EARNED INCOME CREDIT

In arriving at the amount of tax due on the taxable income of individuals, a credit, known as "earned income credit" is allowed against income in computing the "normal tax." The amount of earned income credit is entered on line 25 of the return Form 1040, and the computation of the earned income credit is shown in Schedule E of the return form. The manner of computation is set forth in Instruction 25 accompanying the form. The earned income credit is defined by law as 10 per cent of the earned net income, but not in excess of 10 per cent of the net income; but this definition is subject to certain qualifications. There are three major qualifications.

First, if the taxpayer's net income (that is, the amount shown on line 19 of the return) is not greater than $3,000, then the earned income credit is taken as 10 per cent of the net income; that is, the entire net income is considered as earned net income.

Second, if the taxpayer's net income exceeds $3,000, then the earned income credit is taken as 10 per cent of the net income or the earned net income, whichever is the smaller, but in any case at least $300.

Earned net income is defined as the "earned income" less the "earned income deductions." "Earned income" is earnings from employment, that is, earnings from wages, salaries, professional fees, tips, bonuses, and the like. The "earned income deductions" are the ordinary and necessary expenses incurred in connection with such employment. (The amount of such expenses must be explained by an itemized statement.)

Ordinarily, the earned net income is the amount carried into the return on line 1 of Form 1040. If, however, the taxpayer is in business for himself and is reporting most of his income on Schedule H—Profit (or Loss) from Business or Profession, a maximum of 20 per cent of his share of the net profits of such trade or business may be considered as earned income in arriving at the amount of earned net income.

Third, the maximum earned income credit which any taxpayer may take is $1,400. This maximum would occur when both the net income and the earned net income were $14,000 or more.

For persons filing a Simplified Return, it is not necessary to compute the earned income credit, as this has been consolidated into the computation of tax shown in the table on the back of the return form. It is necessary only to refer to this table to arrive at the correct amount of tax due. Any individual whose total income for the year is not in excess of $3,000 and was wholly from salary, wages or other compensation for personal service, dividends, interest, or annuities, may use a Simplified Return (Form 1040A).

HE'S EXPECTING A LOT OF MAIL

LAMAR, Mo.—(P) Lieut. Fred Finley of Lamar has been complaining in his letters recently that the folks back home never write, but if his mail ever catches up with him he's going to have a real writing job of his own to do.

His bride has written him 81 times but apparently the letters haven't followed him yet through England, Ireland, Scotland and to Africa.

LOBSTER TRAPS LOST

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me.—(INS)—A recent storm, the worst in 30 years, destroyed about $500,000 worth of lobster traps along the Maine coast. As the result lobster prices are expected to rise.

The cost of keeping our freedom will be measured not in money, in time, or production, but in American lives. The boys who are fighting our battles will win more quickly and with less loss of life if the men on the production front give them every possible advantage in combat weapons—if we accept willingly and quickly the changes in our lives that make such production possible.—Donald B. ## President Acts In Mine Strike PRIVILEGES accorded individuals and groups in peacetime, as a part of "the American way of life," are unsuited to the war program of a nation that is engaged in a desperate struggle to retain freedom for its people.

Yesterday's action in the strike of anthracite coal miners provides an example of the extent to which government authority supersedes individual or group "rights" in time of war.

When all ordinary processes of conciliation failed to induce striking miners to return to work the War Labor Board turned the matter over to President Roosevelt, who, as commander-in-chief of the nation's armed forces, directed "all miners in the anthracite coal fields who are now out on strike to return at once to their job of producing vitally needed coal for their country," with the stern warning attached, "If this order is not complied with in 48 hours, your government will take the necessary steps to protect the security of the nation against a strike which is doing serious injury to the war effort."

That puts it plainly. If they have not realized it before, either because of ignorance or lack of information, these strikers now know that during the entire time they have been on strike they have been fighting on the side of the Axis and against their own country.

If, by chance, it requires use of any part of the nation's armed forces to implement the order of the president, that also will be an aid to the enemy, as the full strength of army and navy is needed just now to fight Japan, Germany and Italy, instead of diverting part of this strength to enforcing orders of the commander-in-chief in connection with strikes.

More Blood Donors Needed

TOMORROW and Friday are days on which several hundred Mansfield and Richland county residents will contribute some of their own blood to the national war effort.

Aside from actual service on one of the battlefronts, the contribution of blood seems to make nearer approach to a major sacrifice than response to any of the other calls for civilian co-operation.

The November and December experience, in which some of those who had volunteered as blood donors failed to meet appointments, must be considered more as an oversight than intentional failure to meet a self-assumed obligation, and it now appears that this week's quota will be met or exceeded.

Call of the National Red Cross for four million pints of blood this year evidences the increasing need for this life-saving medium, and it may be hoped that people of this city and county will do their full share in this essential war activity.

Suggest Name for Supply Depot

SUGGESTION that the prospective air force supply depot, for which a site north of Shelby has been chosen, should bear the name of "Parsel," in commemoration of the Plymouth pilot, Capt. Elmer Parsel, who met death in the crash of a bomber plane in India, April 2, last year, will probably meet with quite general approval—if selection of the name of an individual is in accord with war department policies in connection with such developments.

Early information had been that the depot was to bear the name "Mansfield," for which no particular justification was apparent, in view of its location near Shelby, and in the event of a place name being chosen, "Richland" would seem more appropriate, in recognition of its county-wide application.

Flynn's Committee Votes 'Confidence'

THE DEMOCRATIC national committee, meeting in Chicago, after giving retiring chairman, Edward J. Flynn, a vote of "complete confidence," passed a resolution charging that objections to Flynn's appointment as minister to Australia constituted an attack on President Roosevelt, instigated by enemies "who dare not directly attack the commander-in-chief of our forces in the midst of a war."

That attitude, on the part of a committee of which Flynn has been chairman, is not surprising, but it would be surprising if any considerable number of people took the committee's statements seriously.

On the same day that President Roosevelt announced the nomination of Flynn for the Australian post he also announced the nominations of Prentiss M. Brown, former Michigan senator, as price administrator to succeed Leon Henderson, and of Judge Wiley B. Rutledge as Supreme Court justice.

The nomination of Brown was quickly confirmed by unanimous vote of the senate and confirmation of Judge Rutledge's nomination is anticipated without opposition.

Why this difference? Because Prentiss Brown and Judge Rutledge are recognized as being proper men to fill the respective positions for which President Roosevelt selected them. Confirmation of the nomination of Flynn is being withheld for a similar reason—he is recognized as NOT being qualified to fill the position to which he has been named.

Interplanetary Travel Studied

NO ONE can truthfully say that the British are not forehanded. An American library has come across the record of a British Interplanetary society, founded as far back as 1934, whose purpose was to investigate and, if possible, make journeys to the moon and the nearer planets.

Just now this seems like a lead worth developing. After the war many people will find their own countries in rather unsatisfactory condition. They would probably give serious consideration to a well-planned proposal for migration to another planet, where life could be started anew.

Pleased young wife tells of having bought enough sliced bread to last a couple of months.

Here's hoping that the new Victory tax lives up to its name.

ONE FOR THE OVERSEAS BOY'S SCRAP BOOK

Those 'Extra-Territorial Rights'

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—American and British abandonment of extra-territorial rights in China generally is described to the Occident as a great concession by the western countries to the Flowery Land in token of the formers' appreciation of the latter's gallant fight against the Japanese.

Well, it's a fact that Chiang Kai-shek's Chung-king government of today did want extra-territoriality ended.

That it originally was forced upon the Chinese from outside is entirely a wrong conclusion, however. It was an arrangement insisted on not only by the Chinese, but by other governments in the Near, Middle and Far Easts, as a condition for permitting foreigners to settle, live and transact business in their various midsts.

It prevailed in Turkey, for example, when I visited there just after the Abdul Hamid revolution.

Far from having imposed it upon a reluctant sultan, our diplomatic corps didn't like it. It involved a lot of work and was a nuisance to 'em. Nevertheless, they had it to bother with. The Turks wouldn't take it off our hands.

The Ottoman Empire wasn't so bad, to be sure, because we weren't sufficiently numerous there to be a serious pest. Along the Chinese coast, though, our traders were thick, and we had to keep order among 'em. And at our own expense, mind you. That was the beauty of it, from the extra-territorialized folk's standpoint.

Envoy's Headache.

Constantinople was the Turks' capital in those days. Now it's changed its name to Istanbul and the governmental headquarters has moved to Ankara. But that's immaterial.

To me extra-territoriality was a new thing at the time, but I soon learned that I wasn't responsible, within our Yankee diplomatic limits, for much of anything, to anybody but my own ambassador. If I created a street disturbance, no doubt the local police would have pinched me, but only to have been turned over immediately to the U. S. embassy's custody.

"Suppose," I asked Louis Einstein, then our embassy's first secretary alongside the Bosporus, "that I killed a man. What would happen?"

"If you killed a Turk," said Louis, "I presume it would result in diplomatic complications, but if you killed nobody but an American, it would be up to the embassy to 'tend to you. We'd try you, and if we decided you needed to be executed, that also would be our own funeral; yours likewise."

But, as previously remarked, our American population in Turkey was trifling; too small to worry our representatives there. Our embassy and consulate kept matters in hand quite efficiently.

The idea is that these Orientals initially didn't care a cent's worth for our western presence among 'em. They were willing to let us come ashore and set up housekeeping, but not to accept any responsibility for our kind of inhabitants.

Accordingly, upon being externally approached for accommodations, their answer's been:

"Don't Bother Us."

"Anchor here if you like, but don't fret us any."

No, as I've said, Turkey was no serious problem; our embassy there dealt with it.

However, consider such a port as Shanghai—now occupied by the Japs.

In that city we've had, for more than a century, a "settlement" as American as New York or Chicago. We've policed it, with Yankee coppers. We've had our own courts there. They've been U. S. federal, indeed. You were tried federally, if it chanced to be for nothing more serious than intoxication. You were tried by a U. S. federal judge, no matter how trifling your alleged offense was.

If it happened to be something ferocious, he was committed to San Quentin, Calif.

That's what extra-territorial Occidental surrender implies in China.

Japan's different.

Listen World!

Doing Olga Dirt

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

OLGA'S having her Christmas gift dresses refitted at the town emporium.

Olga's sixteen, an adorable young Viking—all gilt, rose and sapphire blue. Her folks came from Norway some 18 years ago. They could not read or write but they were strong, laughing lovers with great dreams. All those dreams centered about young Olga and her four brothers when they arrived in swift succession.

Those glorious babies, they dreamed would never have to work as their old world parents had worked. They would grow up, gay and unhampered, in this abundant America. They should never know toil and sweat or tears of disappointment. They did not say these thoughts in words but they ran like a song in their blood. And the coddled babies, sensing them, accepted them as truth.

Until this summer Olga's parents ran a dairy near town. Then all the young men in the valley were drafted. There was no one to milk the cows. Many of them had to be slaughtered. It's hard scrapings now, at the ranch, but Olga and the boys are still at school. And Olga is having Christmas gift dresses refitted at the town emporium.

When Olga's mother was her age, she made her own dresses. I have seen some of them, with their beautiful old world embroidery. She could cook too, at 15, and make the cheese and bleach the flax and keep the floors scrubbed white as milk.

Olga can do none of these things. She laughs if you even suggest them and her mother's eyes grow dark with anger. Why should anyone treat her beautiful daughter and sons as if they were peasants? Is this not a democracy? Should not everyone be equal? Should not her daughters be as free from work as any rich girl?

SINCE this happens to be a true story, I have been tracing that last question. For months, with the aid of some of our best educators, I have been conducting a secret survey of just what our American public schools do to and for the fine young second generation Americans who come to its mill as grist.

AND I'M AT LAST CONVINCED THEY DO THEM DIRT. THEY TAKE MAGNIFICENT HUMAN MATERIAL AND TURN IT INTO PARASITIC TRASH.

But wait before you screech your indignation. No nation on earth has a finer general educational system, or more sincere teachers, than America. No schools are more lavishly equipped. But the jinx is this—

MAMA AND PAPA AREN'T CONTENT WITH A PURELY PRACTICAL EDUCATION FOR JUNIOR AND SISTER. THEY WANT THEM TO ACHIEVE THAT VAGUE GOAL KOWN AS A "COLLEGE EDUCATION."

Now the simple fact is that not one out of a thousand children is mentally endowed for a college degree. By natural heritage, they are equipped to become superb craftsmen. They should follow in the path their fathers have trod for thousands of years. But their own parents revolt against such a fate. They want them to be "different" and "better."

So Junior and Sister take the courses which will give "college credits" whether or not they are fitted for them. Which mechanical and domestic courses don't. So they end up—where? Nowhere. They are neither good farmers or mechanics, good cooks or seamstresses.

I am tired of hearing plans for post-war peace. I would like to hear a few plans for a little global common sense now. We have the finest and costliest educational framework on earth and we are making the worst use of it.

It is an actual fact that, save for a few private schools, domestic science and mechanics are nowhere obligatory courses. Such credits are useless in college. Sixteen-year-old Olga can't hem up a dress. Seventeen-year-old Olaf can't shoe a horse or mend a tractor. It isn't the school board's fault. They have provided the makings. But we have erected a snobbish conception of democracy that renders those makings useless.

WHO'S DOING OLGA DIRT? WHAT'S YOUR ANSWER? DO YOU OR DO YOU NOT THINK THAT YOUNG AMERICA SHOULD BE MOLDED TO PRACTICAL AIMS?

(Copyright 1943)

Hope is a good anchor, but it needs something to grip.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. No.

2. No, it is an integral part of the Navy.

3. They can "pitch" backward for a short distance but cannot travel in reverse, owing to the non-reversible way in which their scales are attached.

Interpreting the War News

Amazing Strength of Russians Is Shown By Lifting Stalingrad Siege

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

BY LIFTING the 16½ months' siege of Leningrad, the Russians have provided a convincing demonstration of their striking power.

The Russians reduced Schluesselberg, probably the most strongly fortified position in Russia, but an overwhelming mass artillery attack, followed up by infantry in an impressive demonstration of military timing. Two of the Red army's best generals, Marshals Grigory K. Zhukov and Klementi Voroshilov, directed the operation.

The Germans thus have lost the northern anchor of their line which extended southward from Lake Ladoga to Rzhev, west of Moscow. The Russians are attacking at both ends of the line and apparently are planning to force a German withdrawal which will sweep the Nazis out of northern Russia into the Baltic states.

The freeing of Leningrad will make it possible to re-open the railroad to Moscow and restore the great industrial city, Russia's second largest, to the country's war economy. The effect on that part of the front should be great.

SUCCESS at Leningrad heightened the deep impression which Russia's strength has made on London military observers. They are amazed at the Red army's ability to strike simultaneously all along a 1,1250-mile front from the Baltic to the Caucasus.

The Russians are engaged successfully on six sectors of that long front, namely, Leningrad, Voronezh, the lower Don, the northern Donets, Stalingrad and the northern Caucasus.

In the northern area, the Russians have pushed more than 100 miles past Rzhev to Velikie Luki, leaving a narrow German salient extending in a finger to their rear from Smolensk to Rzhev.

The Russians are battering at the German lines around Velikie Luki and it appears possible that this salient can be pinched off and annihilated unless the Germans are able to withdraw from Rzhev and fall back on Smolensk, their next strong point on the upper Dnieper.

In the Stalingrad area, a German force estimated at up to 70,000 men is trapped and the Russians are engaged in exterminating it.

In the lower Don region, the Russians are closing in on Rostov. They have driven rapidly past Millerovo to Kamensk and are advancing on Likhaya, the rail junction to the south. They also are close to Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov.

The gaps between the Russians and the key city to the Caucasus are being closed rapidly and it seems increasingly probable that the Russians have a good chance of cutting off all the German forces in the Caucasus. It would be a disaster comparable to that at Stalingrad or perhaps greater.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — The Capital in Wartime:

Despite many criticisms that there are too many idle hands among government employes, the Civil Service Commission still burns most of its midnight oil trying to figure out how to meet the demands of the departments, agencies and bureaus for additional workers—either for new jobs or to fill vacancies caused by the staggering number of resignations.

The latest is part-time workers. Except in special cases (generally where experts were needed for specific jobs) this is the first time the government has opened its doors to less than full-time employes.

Housewives, students and part-time workers in other professions now can do their bit for the war effort by working less than the full 44 hours a week in the government and incidentally implement their incomes with federal pay.

THE pay is figured on a proportionate basis of the regular pay scales, depending on the number of hours worked. Part-timers will not get sick leave, vacations, or participate in retirement funds, but they may be promoted and even placed on full-time work, if okayed by Civil Service.

Switchboard operators, typists, stenographers and business machine operators are in the top demand brackets now but Civil Service will take any kind of applications and assign the applicants as openings occur.

The one limitation on the part-time workers is that they must not be full time workers in industry.

* * *

REP. WILL ROGERS, JR, is the only man in the new congress who will walk the halls of the Capitol in the shadow of his daddy's statue. In one of the main floor corridors that houses the overflow from the Hall of Statuary is a life size bronze of the gum-chewing comedian.

It should be a daily reminder to young Will that although his Dad never served in congress, he probably was quoted more frequently there than any man in his time.

CONGRESS has just dealt the old one-two to the theory that hard work and war tension are killing. In the 715 days of the 77th congress, the longest on record, 14 members of the House and five Senators died, but only three of those congressmen and no senator has died since the United States declared war.

That record hasn't been equalled in any year since 1914. It is all the more remarkable because 1912 was not only the second year of the longest continuous session of congress but also was election year when many members had to do the double duty of electioneering and wrestling with all the legislative problems this war has raised.

Dr. George W. Calver, congressional physician, attributes the new health record to a greater consciousness of the need for physical fitness. Scores of congressmen have beaten the strain of overwork with physical checkups and strict adherence to proper exercise and diets.

Dave Boohe Says:

IT COST the government at least fifteen million dollars more than necessary so far in war contracts because of fees to contact men, Senator Vinson reveals. And the staggering sum of seven hundred million was saved last year alone through scrapping some of these deals and renegotiating 'em.

That gives you an idea of Washington wastefulness. But I don't know as you can put too much blame on anybody. Finding the right official to see in Washington has been too much of a job for any businessman unless he had a sabbatical year. And these contact men had to spend a lot of money for charts, street maps, shoe leather and compasses, not to mention the wealth of patience, determination and persistence they have to have.

And half these Washington officials didn't know where the other half were located and weren't any too sure of their own addresses. It was a big comfort to them, too, to have somebody contact 'em.

Governor Baldwin of Connecticut sure has the most novel proposal for easing the coal and oil crisis yet. He wants all business houses, office buildings, theaters, taverns, bars and clubs to close Mondays for two months. How Connecticut women will react to having the men folks hanging around the house an extra day every week remains to be seen.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Soldier's Pledge.

I would lay at your feet my all,
Dear country, victories
Of men and soil. With high hopes
I cross uncertain seas.

To far flung lands I go. I leave
Those dearest, what I own
With this intent to give my all,
To pledge to you alone.

You claim now all that is myself,
My thoughts by day and night,
My goal but this to do my bit
In setting world aright.

Words of the Wise

The better part of valor is discretion.

In avoiding cinders, step not on burning coals.

We must not build on hopes or fears, but only on the continued faithful discharge of our duty, wherein alone will be found safety and peace of mind.—Winston Churchill.

A Farmer's Diary

Snug Winter

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUR rolling fields and quiet valleys have been white with snow since early December, with hardly any time that there was not continuous, solid footing on the gravel roads. Road banks were piled, many times, with artless eaves and cones and towers—and when these became worn and tattered, a new covering fell quietly in the night.

Forty years ago, such an old-fashioned winter would have meant sleighing with bells—timber would have been snaked down the snowy slopes and drawn to the nearest sawmills, in great sledloads. But I did not see a single sleigh or load of logs go by. That day is past.

Yet snug winter, on a farm, has its peculiar charm—paths through the snow from house to barn, the watering trough with an icy rim, the dwindling woodpile and the lazily curling column of blue smoke, above the snowclad roof. The hogs and cattle and sheep and horses come from their steaming strawy beds. The barn is a warm, close haven against driving winds and storms.

The farmer looks at his snowy fields and is content. He knows the goodness of the covering upon his wheat. Beneath this blanket, sheltering, yet porous, the late sowed wheat extends rootlets and grows greener. Driving winds on clear cold nights, with bitter frosts, do no harm to the tender plants, protected so.

And heavy rains in summer do not penetrate the soil like melting snow. Snow crumbles each tiny clod, drenches the surface, yet protects it from dangerous wind erosion. Often I have thrust my hand under a solid snowy layer and felt a gentle, highly satisfying warmth, while through that cold white mantle, when I stopped, I caught the fragrance of mellow, open earth.

Snow also possesses fertilizing qualities. For the duration, nitrogen fertilizers can hardly be obtained, at any price. Snow absorbs ammonia from the air and at the same time keeps the same element, already in the soil, from leaking out.

On city streets, I saw old men and boys shovel it on trucks, trodden and filthy with soot—a nuisance and an unsightly hazard. Out in the country it remains for weeks a beautiful, bountiful boon to every farmer.
